

CONTENTS

What should We Learn from Hegel's Philosophy?	He Lai	1
Marx and Lenin: The Politics of Violence and Enemy/Ally Opposition	Zhang Wenxi	8
"Destruction" and "Reconstruction": India and Britain in Marx's Historical Perspective	Liu Jingdong Wang Shujuan	18
From "Utopia" to "乌托邦": A Possibility of Translingual Practice	Zhang Die	28
A Interpretation of Dialectics through the Philosophy of Practice	Huang Zhijun	33

Peasant and Woman in Maoist Revolutionary Theory, 1920s – 1950s	Tina Mai Chen Trans. Liang Changping	38
Will, Norm and Orientation: The Disciplining of Press on the Part of Chinese Communist Party around 1949	Zhao Liang	48

Memory and Time within the Perspective of Consciousness-Only School: A Phenomenological Development of Kern's Article	Zhang Xianglong	55
Perspective and Motion in Perception: A Probe into Husserl's Notion of Motion Starting from the Perception of Things	Shan Bin	62
Heidegger's Inquiry into the Nature of Poetry	Jia Dongyang	67

Did Cassirer Answer the Question "What is Man"?	Shi Fuqi	74
The Genesis of Reason in the Philosophy of Spinoza	Wu Shubo	83
Have Time Travel Already Happened?	Yang Hui	90

On the Problems of "Rewriting the History of Confucianism" and "The Modernized Versions of Confucianism"	Huang Yushun	97
Exegesis and Therapy: Wang Yangming's Interpretation of the First Chapter of The Doctrine of the Mean	Guo Liang	104
A Probe into the Problem of "Zhui-Shu-Yi" (Recounting of Memory) Arising from a Debate at Tian Quan Bridge	Cheng Haixia	109
Fang Dongmei's Argument of Chinese Culture within the Framework of Taoism and Western Culture	Shi Baoguo	117
On Fang Dongmei's Philosophic Trajectory	Guo Jimin	123
